As it celebrates 100 years in business, Frank Adams Jewelers has its sights set on 2023 with the expected opening on a new home on Wolf Road.

The ceremonial groundbreaking was Tuesday with President & COO Kimberly Adams Russell flanked by her team members including her son, who makes Frank Adams a fourth-generation business.

The building on Wolf Road will be 7,500 square feet – double the size of its current Stuyvesant Plaza home.

It will feature a different shopping experience with private areas, lounges and a full-service beverage area.

The plan is for the new location to open next spring.
